Return of Walnut.

The wood of our fathers, the good old "black walnut" that was reckoned the supreme cabinet material of 50 years ago, has come back. True, they call it "American walnut" now, and give it a shiny finish and try to hide the deep, purplish brown which is the true glory of the stuff; but it is the same old wood in spite of all. May it soon get back its ancient name and more than its ancient popularity.

The Conqueror's Return.

Mr. Mouatt, born tired, also father of a large family, spent most of his married life in bed, while Mrs. Mouatt worked in the glass factory, just to keep things moving. One morning Mr. Mouatt became impregnated with the large idea of getting out of bed at last, and offering his services to his country. On calling at Mrs. Mouatt's one day last week, a lady found her in tears.

"Why, Mrs. Mouatt, what is the matter? Has your husband been wounded?"

"No, miss." (Loud sniffles.)

"Well, dear me! I hope he has not been killed!"

"Oh, it's worse than that, miss! He's coming 'ome!'—Judge.

Frank Comment.

In his very, very early youth Mr. Mumpser had been a pretty child. His friends did not believe this was possible, and even he had forgotten all about it until one day he unearthed a painting of himself at that period from among the old lumber.

This he handed to his wife as some compensation for his present somewhat worm-eaten appearance.

"There, Alice," said Mrs. Mumpser, proudly exhibiting the picture to the servant. "That is a portrait of your master, painted when he was a child."

Alice gazed open-mouthed at the production.

"Lor, mum," she said, after some moments, "ain't it is we have to grow up, what a pity!"—London Answers.

IT WAS REAL LOVE

By MYRTLE BAIRD WEBSTER.

Peter Lowden was a disappointed man. He had been six months in the United States and half that time in Chicago, and it seemed as though that period had been set aside by some cruel destiny as a special purgatorial test for his stanch spirit.

"I'm wearin' awa for a sight of auld Scotia's heather bloom," he sighed as from a deep dark pit of penury and discouragement. "And Jessie!"

That was where honest loyal Peter's heart pinched hardest. He could philosophize calmly over high hopes quickly blasted as to sudden wealth and position in "the new far country." He was content with a dish of weak brose and an occasional fannin haddie—but Jessie, light of his heart! How he had hoped to wed his pretty modest fiancée and "bush her fine I' sassen gown and siller ha' to spare," and now "the braw moon" glistened o'er a weary city street. Peter penniless and hopeless, and Jessie—lost!

It had come about strangely. She, an orphan, had left the little town where both had been born a few months in advance of Peter. She had written him as agreed only once, to furnish him with the penciled address of the home in Chicago where she had found employment as a lady's maid. Armed with this, Peter started to try his own fortunes in America and to be near his future bride.

For three months in New York Peter wore out shoes and patience looking for work. Finally he saved

"What Else Are Ye But a Fine Whistler?"

ap enough to pay his fare to Chicago. He was crossing the ferry to take the train at Jersey City, when an unfortunate outcast, a woman passenger, jumped overboard in a desperate attempt at suicide. Peter bravely leaped after and rescued her. He was damp and uncomfortable the first stage of his train journey. Then came the appalling discovery that his soaking in the river had blurred out the precious penciled address that was his only clue to Jessie.

Then came a month in Chicago where the inexperienced lad patrolled the city streets, seeking the lady of his love, to meet with bitter, utter disappointment. He spent his last dollar advertising for her without result. He finally gave up the disheartening quest. Peter shuddered when he recalled the wretched woman on the ferry boat. Then again, Jessie might be dead, or—wedded to another! All Peter could do now was to try and keep body and soul together through odd jobs. At home he had mastered the baker's trade, but his specialty lay in Scotch edibles only, and nobody seemed to want such fare at American restaurants.

Now, this especial bleak evening Peter was at the last extremity. He was cold, sleepy, hungry. As he was passing a large dark building, however, his eye brightened. It had two bulletin boards at its front. Each of these held a placard of some kind, in the center of which, plainly visible even at a distance, was the counter-felt presentment of a huge Scotch thistle.

"Certes, the sight warms the cockles o' my heart!" breathed Peter rapidly, and as he came nearer he discovered that the placards announced a Robert Burns birthday concert the following evening.

"It's like a whiff o' hame," continued Peter. "Braw Bobby! I'm o' s'ch festivities at the present time, but a man's a man for a' that, an' I'll take heart o' cheer," and seating himself on the cold stone steps Peter began to warble out cheerily, "Ye Banks and Braes o' Bonny Doon."

"Heh, mon! but ye're frae Dum-barton, I ken!"

Peter jumped up to observe a frowsy ancient head stuck out past a half-open door.

"Ye hae the burr o' the name!" cried Peter.

"Coom in," invited the other, with a commiserating glance over Peter, and he admitted him, closed and locked the door after him and led him into the basement of the hall which seemed given over to kitchen uses.

It contained great ranges, pots, pans, crockery, barrels of flour, bags of sugar, in fact a culinary outfit that astonished the inexperienced Peter. Then, as he was regarding the layout open-mouthed, his host shot the shrewd inquiry at him:

"What else are ye but a fine whistler?"

"A fine baker!" proclaimed Peter with proud confidence—"but Scotch, mind ye. The trade's no good in this country."

It took David McPherson, club cook, a very few minutes to turn his fellow countryman "inside out," as he expressed it.

"And what for all this prodigious food?" questioned Peter.

"The banquet, mon," returned David. "It's the spread after the concert and the speechifying—the real enjoyment, with mountain dew addendum," and the old fellow went on to tell how, as the chef de cuisine in all the functions of St. Andrew's society he held a lucrative and busy place.

"I can use ye, lad, maybe permanently, if ye fill the bill," he said, and he shared his supper and his bed with Peter, to wake up at sunrise to find his guest standing patiently beside him in a manifest state of suppressed excitement.

"I've an idea," spoke Peter. "It waked me hours since," and then with enthusiastic vim he developed a wondrous scheme that had come into his mind. Scotsmen all, those at the banquet might hail the novelty of real Scotch cooking with ardor.

"Their mutton pies, ye mind," explained Peter. "Their mouths will water for the real home-made cookery. And brose—no great quantity, but a suggestion of the heathery moor and the childhood cot. And scones, and oat cakes, and short bread, and whole wheat farls, and Melton Mowbray pork pies!"

Peter had set the imagination of old David on fire. He was heart and soul in harmony with the plan of surprising the banqueters with Scotch fare purely. And so it came about. It was a marvelous success. Upon the eventful night men who saw before them the unadulterated products of their home soil, grew tender and loyal, and the hall rang with unrestrained enthusiasm that marked the occasion as glowing and grand.

Now at the banquet was one Peter Wilbur. And it so happened that at the home of this stalwart son of Scotia, now a prosperous business man, Jessie had secured employment. Peter had taken home one of the mutton pies to remind his wife of old times, as he had been reminded, and Mrs. Wilbur had given it to Jessie.

"I've noticed ye're longing all the time," she said to her favorite maid. "Maybe for home. Here's a touch of it, lassie, that may solace your poor homesick heart."

Jessie took the pie and began to partake of it with eyes retrospective and tearful. A taste made her sob.

"There was one, and one only in old Scotia who made the like," she wailed—"my best laddie, and—oh!"

She burst into a scream, staring at a cross-cross mark upon the top layer of crust.

"Peter's mark! I know it well," she tremored. "Ah! only he used that mark. Oh, tell me, tell me whence came the pie!"

Mr. Wilbur was called and he explained. On with her bonnet, and Jessie was flying in the direction of the hall where old David had engaged Peter as his permanent assistant.

She burst in upon them unceremoniously. She fell into his outstretched arms. There were only two words spoken, but so fervently uttered that old David thrilled at their simple eloquence—

"Lassie!"
"Laddie!"

Moleskin Is Profitable.

Moleskins have been extensively used in this country during the last few years in making fur garments, and practically all of the supply has been imported from Europe. In the belief that the common mole of eastern United States produces fur of equal value, skins were submitted to professional furriers, who stated that the quality is superior to the foreign product. A report on the economic status of the eastern species was published during the year. The mole inhabiting the northwestern coast is larger than the common eastern species, and a number of these have been collected in order to obtain a report on the quality of the pelt. If the texture of the fur proves to be as good as that of the eastern animal, there is no reason why trappers should not secure a good income by capturing these animals, as the area they inhabit is extensive. In many localities an acre of ground supports as many as a hundred individuals. If this little animal can be profitably trapped for its fur the problem of freeing agricultural areas from it will practically be solved.

Hint for Photographers.

Carbonate of soda is an accelerator for the reducing agent. With most developers, when they are dissolved alone in water, the image will ultimately appear, but it will come very slowly. Add a strong solution of carbonate of soda to the reducing agent and water and the image will fairly leap at you. The reduction of the bromide of silver has been tremendously hastened and it is also more thorough and complete, the negative having much greater density. This is the sole mission of a carbonate of soda in the developer. It is to speed things up and complete the action—Outing.

BILIOUS, HEADACHY, SICK "CASCARETS"

Gently cleanse your liver and sluggish bowels while you sleep.

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Adv.

WRONG VIEWS OF MARRIAGE

Brooklyn Lawyer Tells of Some Popular Impressions That Are Entirely Erroneous.

Some persons believe, says Mr. Hugo Hirsch of the Brooklyn bar, in Case and Comment, that marriage can be entered into by any man or woman, regardless of age, race, relationship, or condition. But in this they are mistaken, for every state has its own peculiar laws regarding, limiting, and circumscribing entrance into this relationship as the same may be affected by those provisions.

Some persons believe that fraud, force, duress, coercion, used for the purpose of bringing about marriage between man and woman, do not affect the legality of the relationship, but in this they are mistaken, because every state and territory has a law providing for the annulment of marriages caused by fraud, force, etc.

Some men believe that wives are chattels and may be beaten into submission. This is a grave error, for in many of the states such conduct is cause for an absolute divorce, and in nearly all of the states it is cause for a legal separation.

In the Beginning.

"Say, Adam," remarked Eve at the breakfast table, "I need a new gown. What kind shall I get?"

"Oh, don't bother me," growled Adam, who was trying to peruse the morning paper. "I don't care a fig what kind you get. But as it's the first of the year, perhaps it would be just as well to turn over a new leaf."

A GLASS OF SALTS WILL END KIDNEY-BACKACHE

Says Drugs Excite Kidneys and Recommend Only Salts, Particularly If Bladder Bothers You.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

Formation of Opinions.

"What do you think of the president's speech?"
"I don't like it!"
"Have you read it?"
"No. When I disagree with a man's politics I don't care to read his speeches to know I don't like 'em."

You never miss the water until the courts get hold of the stock and squeeze it out.

Every time you wrong a neighbor you harm yourself.

The more a man gets the more he wants—unless a police judge is dealing it out.

Modesty Rewarded.

"She quit because the manager of the show asked her to wear tights."

"You seldom see a chorus girl like that."

"Seldom, indeed. The incident gave her so much free advertising that she is now drawing a fancy salary in vaudeville for posing semi-nude as a living picture model."

A Stitch in Time

Colds, fevers and germ diseases are pretty sure to overwork the kidneys and leave them weak. In convalescence, in fact, at any time when suspicion is aroused by a lame, aching back, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness or disordered urine, the use of Doan's Kidney Pills is a stitch in time that may avoid serious kidney disease.

No other medicine is so widely used, so freely recommended or so generally successful.

A Michigan Case

"Doan's Kidney Pills," says Gilbert Keefe, carpenter, 185 Junction Ave., Detroit, Mich.: "I had severe, dull pains across my kidneys and my back was so lame and sore, I could hardly get around. I slept poorly and in the morning was tired and worn out. The kidney secretions passed too often and contained sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me as soon as I used them and bettered my general health. Since then I have kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."
